Report of awareness programme on women's health, 2023

In partnership with Mugberia Rural Hospital, the NSS members of Mugberia Gangadhar Mahavidyalaya arranged a powerful program of health education for women on June 30, 2023, on the hospital grounds. The purpose of the event was to inform the public on a range of topics related to women's health, including sanitation, preventative care, and reproductive health. Through thought-provoking lectures and engaging exercises, participants acquired important information and understanding about preserving their wellbeing. By providing women with vital health information and encouraging a culture of proactive healthcare seeking, the campaign had a major positive impact on the local community. By working together, the college NSS members and the rural hospital were able to enhance the community's overall health results by providing women with access to vital resources and help for their health challenges.
