Report of Seminar on World Environment Day, 2021

On June 5, 2021, the Department of Geography at Mugberia Gangadhar Mahavidyalaya successfully organized a seminar in celebration of World Environment Day. The event, conducted on an online platform, aimed to increase awareness about environmental issues and promote a sense of responsibility toward sustainable practices.

The seminar featured an insightful session by the esteemed speaker, Mr. Umasankar Mandal, who addressed the crucial topic of "Challenges of Ecosystem Restoration." His expertise shed light on the complexities involved in restoring ecosystems and the importance of collective efforts.

A notable aspect of the event was the engaging interaction between the speaker and the students. Participants actively posed questions and shared thoughts, fostering a dynamic exchange of ideas and enhancing the overall learning experience.

The seminar served as a valuable platform for the academic community to gain insights into the challenges and opportunities associated with ecosystem restoration. The Department of Geography extends gratitude to Mr. Umasankar Mandal and appreciates the enthusiastic participation of students, making the event a success.
